SABR Meeting at the Irving Austin library

November 23, 2013

The SABR chapter of Chicago had a meeting at the Austin Irving library in Chicago.

Floyd Sullivan talked about the 1908 season from a viewpoint of besides baseball. Plus a view of how the Merkle game happen from different perspectives including what the umpire said after the game and in a two page letter to the league president.

Matthew Clifford talked about the major league with the worst luck. Sylvester Johnson. His career and about his life outside of the game.

Mark Fimoff. talks about the Cubs 1908 World Series photos and why they couldn't have been what they had originally captioned to be.

In the business part of the meeting. It was announced that the next meeting would be on January 25th 2014 at the Brat Stop in Kenosha. At the meeting we will also have a silent auction of signed books to benefit the chapter. The meeting will be a combined Chicago and Milwaukee chapter meeting.

The Chicago chapter is also looking for baseball books to be donated to the Chicago Public Library in Harwood Heights at our next meeting there next spring.

At the SABR Day meeting in Kenosha we are having a silent auction of signed books to benefit the chapter

Here is a list of the books that we have so far

Public Bonehead, Private Hero, The Real Legacy of Baseball's Fred Merkle
Signed by author Mike Cameron (We have 2 of these)

The Hardball Times: Baseball Annual, 2013
Signed by Hardball Times staff writer Dave Studenmund (We have 3 of these)

Waiting for the Cubs, The 2008 season, the Hundred-Year Slump and One Fan's Lifelong Vigil
Signed by author Floyd Sullivan (We have 2 of these)

But Didn't We Have Fun, An Informal History of Baseball's Pioneer Era 1843-1870
Signed by author Peter Morris

We are also taking in donations of baseball books that will be donated to the Eisenhower Branch of the Chicago Public Library in Harwood Heights. The one where we have a lot of our meetings at.

We will try to have the silent auction at our SABR Day event every year, and the donations to the library every year at a meeting at the Eisenhower library.
